Dear Michael,

As you can see from the quotes below, your Mind Mapping course was one of the highlights of our Management Development Seminar in Key West:

"This session was also amazingly well presented. I immediately started using mind mapping and have found it to be a powerful and useful tool. Mind mapping allows me to let thoughts flow and later organize them, differentiating between the important and extraneous. If Michael Gelb presents classes for us in the future, I would like to attend."

"I think they are the most fantastic tool I have ever been given. For me, personally, the mind map is more powerful than the computer. It gives a way to intermix creativity, logic and planning to make better use of what the computer can do."

"Michael packed into a day a great deal of new thinking and enthusiasm about his topic and certainly has assisted me in organising my thoughts better through his 'mind-mapping.' As I believe we all said at the time it was a pity that he had such a short time with us."

I'm looking forward to having you do a repeat performance in 1989, when we hold our next Management Development Seminar.

Regards,
